Notes to the Consolidated Financial Statements

Three and nine months ended February 28, 2011 and 2010
(United States Dollars, unless otherwise stated)

---

1. Basis of Presentation:

The interim consolidated financial statements of PetroKamchatka Plc (the "Corporation" or "PKP") have been prepared by management in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") consistent with the accounting policies and methods of application used in the preparation of the audited consolidated financial statements of the Corporation as at May 31, 2010 and the year then ended. The disclosures included below are incremental to those included with the annual consolidated financial statements. The interim consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the Corporation's consolidated financial statements and notes thereto for the year ended May 31, 2010.

In the preparation of these consolidated financial statements, management has made estimates and assumptions that affect the recorded amounts of certain of the Corporation's assets, liabilities and expenses. The most significant estimates relate to the cost recovery assessment for property and equipment. While it is the opinion of management that these consolidated financial statements have been properly prepared within reasonable limits of materiality and within the framework of the significant accounting policies summarized below, actual results could differ from the estimates made.

2. Going concern:

These consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the basis of accounting principles applicable to a going concern, which assumes that the Corporation will realize its assets and discharge its liabilities in the normal course of operations. If the going concern assumption was not appropriate for these consolidated financial statements, then adjustments would be necessary to adjust the carrying value of assets and liabilities, reported expenses and to revise the balance sheet classifications used.

The Corporation presently does not have sufficient funds to meet all of its exploration and drilling commitments on its licenses in Kamchatka, Russia (note 3). During the year ended May 31, 2010, the Corporation drilled two dry holes on the Tigil License, which has negatively impacted the ability of the Corporation to raise additional capital.

On March 24, 2011, the Corporation and its joint venture partner agreed to seek an early relinquishment of the Icha exploration license located in Kamchatka Russia. The Joint Venture Partnership determined that the existing mapped prospects were non-commercial on a fully risked basis and it was decided not to drill an exploration well on the Icha license. Effective February 28, 2011, the Corporation recorded a writedown of $17,013,932 in the carrying value of its full cost pool relating to the Icha license.

The Corporation's working capital at February 28, 2011 was $3,331,137 (May 31, 2010 - $7,451,857). If the Corporation is unable to raise additional funds as needed, the Corporation may be in breach of its funding obligations under its agreements with KNOC Kamchatka

Petroleum Limited ("KKPL") and may not be able to meet all of its license commitments on its remaining licenses in Kamchatka. It could therefore lose all or part of its interests in the remaining Russian properties. Management believes the going concern assumption to be appropriate for these consolidated financial statements.

(a) Russia

The ultimate recovery of property and equipment costs is dependent upon the existence and commercial exploitation of petroleum and natural gas reserves or a sale of equipment to a third party. The Corporation presently does not have sufficient cash to fund all expenditure commitments under the terms of its Russian exploration licenses (note 2). Uncertainties regarding the political, legal, tax or regulatory environment, including the potential for adverse and retroactive changes with respect to the Corporation's operations in Russia could significantly affect the Corporation and the ultimate cost recovery of its assets.

(a) Russia (continued):

Exploration licenses in Russia are issued by the federal Ministry of Natural Resources (“MNRF”) and grant the holder of the license the right to explore for oil and natural gas reserves within the area specified in the license. In the event of a commercial discovery, the Corporation has the right to convert parts of the exploration license into a production license. Exploration licenses have an associated license agreement, which specifies a required geological and geophysical work program to be completed.

(i) Exploration licenses:

In September 2009, the Corporation acquired 100% interest in the Pustaretskaya, Palanskaya, Ichinskaya and Vorovksaya exploration licenses. The licenses, each with a five year term, require minimum seismic, drilling and completion programs in the first two to three years of the license term. In August 2010, the Corporation surrendered the Pustaretskaya and Palanskaya exploration licenses back to the MNFR along with the Urginskaya license, which was acquired in February 2008. The accumulated impairment includes a writedown at May 31, 2010 of $18,012, $34,617 and $237,873 of the Pustaretskaya, Palanskaya and Urginskaya licenses respectively.

On December 31, 2010, the Tigil exploration license expired and reverted back to the MNRF.

At February 28, 2011, the Corporation held interests in exploration licenses in the Icha, Ichinskaya, and Vorovskaya areas of Kamchatka.

Upon further evaluation of the existing prospects on the Icha license, the Joint Venture Partnership determined that the mapped prospects were non-commercial on a fully risked basis. As a result, it was determined not to drill an exploration well on the Icha license.

On March 24, 2011, the Corporation and KKPL agreed to seek an early relinquishment of the Icha exploration license. Effective, February 28, 2011, the Corporation recorded a writedown of the carrying value of its full cost pool relating to the Icha license of $17,013,932.

3. Property and equipment (continued):

(a) Russia (continued):

(ii) Mobile drilling rig:

The Tigil joint interest entity owns a mobile drilling rig and other equipment located in Russia. In periods when the drilling rig and equipment are idle and not assigned to a specific drilling location, certain costs are expensed when incurred. Such costs include rig and equipment mobilization expenditures, storage expenditures and other amounts. During the three and nine month periods ended February 28, 2011, these costs, which amount to $999,800 and $1,696,855 respectively, were expensed as 'equipment operating costs and other'. No depreciation is provided for when the rig is not in use and held in storage.

(b) Joint interest drilling rig:

The aggregate cost amount of $8,567,260 (May 31, 2010 - $8,567,260) represents the Corporation's 46.25% share of the original purchase price for a new drilling rig (the "HighKelly rig") of $17,533,000 plus the Corporation's share of other costs. The Corporation and KKPL determined that this rig is not suited for the Russian drilling program and purchased a separate mobile rig and other ancillary equipment to drill in Russia. As at May 31, 2010, the estimated fair market value of the drilling rig as indicated by an independent appraisal was $9,223,200 gross. On that basis, the carrying value of the Corporation's 46.25% interest was written down in the fiscal year ended May 31, 2010 by $2,023,000 to $4,137,260, which amount is net of estimated selling costs. There was no writedown during the nine months ended February 28, 2011. For the nine months ended February 28, 2010, the Corporation recorded a writedown of $982,582 relating to this asset.

The Corporation is informed that KKPL has not yet obtained all of the information that it requires to be assured that the rig meets the contracted specifications. On August 18, 2009, KKPL initiated an arbitration proceeding in The International Court of Arbitration against the manufacturer of the rig in respect of the claim by KKPL that the manufacturer failed to comply with its contractual obligations to manufacture and deliver a customized rig to KKPL in compliance with specific contracted requirements. Pursuant to KKPL's request for arbitration, KKPL is seeking damages for the alleged breach. Upon resolution of this dispute, the Corporation and KKPL have undertaken to sell the rig.

(c) Canada:

The Corporation is not active in Canada and its properties in British Columbia have been fully written down.

(d) Stock options:

The Corporation has a stock option plan for employees, consultants, officers and directors. On October 16, 2009, the Board of Directors of the Corporation adopted a new stock option plan. Under the terms of the option plan, the Corporation may grant options up to 10% of the aggregate number of common shares outstanding, with no one optionee permitted to hold more than 5% of the total options outstanding in any twelve month period. The options granted may not be for a term exceeding five years and vest one-third each year from the date of grant. The exercise price of options is approved by the Board and cannot be less than the market price of its common shares on the day the option is granted.

(f) Per share amounts:

Basic income (loss) per share is computed by dividing the net income (loss) available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of common shares outstanding. Diluted income per common share is calculated using the treasury stock method to determine the dilutive effect of stock options and warrants. The treasury stock method assumes that the proceeds received from the exercise of in the money stock options and warrants are used to repurchase common shares at the average market price during the period. At February 28, 2011, 18,653,000 options and 20,882,774 warrants (February 28, 2010 – 21,325,000 and 21,070,122 respectively) were excluded from the calculation as they were anti-dilutive.

7. Financial instruments and risk management:

(a) Capital management:

As an exploration company, the Corporation's operations are financed principally through shareholders' equity. The Corporation's objectives when managing capital are to: finance planned exploration activities; continue as a going concern; maximize returns for shareholders; provide benefits for other stakeholders; and provide resources to facilitate growth.

The Corporation manages the capital structure and responds to changes in economic conditions and planned requirements. It will continue to use cash from equity offerings to fund operations and invest in its capital expenditure program. Future capital strategies may include debt financing and obtaining strategic partners to fund a portion of its projects.

Current economic conditions affect capital markets and the allocation of capital. This situation, together with the impact of unsuccessful drilling results from its first two wells in Russia during the fiscal year ended May 31, 2010, stress the need for greater conservation of capital and careful monitoring of the Corporation's rate of spending on capital projects and to fund general and administrative costs, especially given the absence of adequate financing at February 28, 2011 (note 2).

There are no external restrictions on the Corporation's capital.

(b) Fair values:

The fair value of the Corporation's financial instruments, including cash and cash equivalents, accounts receivable, accounts payable and accrued liabilities approximated their carrying values as at February 28, 2011 and May 31, 2010.

(c) Financial instrument risk exposure and management:

The Corporation is exposed to various risks associated with its financial instruments. These risks are categorized as market risk, credit risk and liquidity risk.

(i) Market risk:

Market risk is the risk that changes in market conditions, such as commodity prices, exchange rates and interest rates, will affect the Corporation's net earnings or the value of its financial instruments. The objective of market risk management is to manage and control exposures within acceptable limits, while maximizing returns.

7. Financial instruments and risk management (continued):

(c) Financial instrument risk exposure and management (continued):

(ii) Commodity risk:

Commodity price risk is the risk that the fair value of future cash flows will fluctuate as a result of changes in commodity prices. Significant changes in commodity prices can also reduce the Corporation's ability to raise capital. Commodity prices for crude oil are impacted by world economic events that dictate the levels of supply and demand. In the future, the Corporation may attempt to mitigate commodity price risk through the use of financial derivatives. The Corporation does not have any oil or gas production and did not have any risk management contracts in place as at February 28, 2011 and May 31, 2010 or during the nine month periods ended February 28, 2011 and 2010 or thereafter.

(iii) Foreign currency risk:

The Corporation is exposed to foreign currency fluctuations as it holds cash and incurs expenditures for property and equipment in foreign currencies. The Corporation incurs expenditures in Russian roubles, Pound sterling, Euros and Canadian dollars and is exposed to fluctuations in exchange rates in these currencies. There were no exchange rate contracts in place as at February 28, 2011 and May 31, 2010 or during the nine month periods ended February 28, 2011 and 2010 or thereafter. A 1% change in foreign exchange rates between the Russian rouble and the U.S. dollar would result in an $8,000 change in net loss for the nine months ended February 28, 2011 ($17,000 for the nine months ended February 28, 2010).

(iv) Credit risk:

Financial instruments that potentially subject the Corporation to concentration of credit risk consist of accounts receivable. There is low credit risk on accounts receivable. Accounts receivable consists of Russian value added taxes and accounts receivable from the Corporation's joint ventures. At February 28, 2011 and May 31, 2010 the Corporation's receivables were current.

7. Financial instruments and risk management (continued):

(c) Financial instrument risk exposure and management (continued):

(v) Liquidity risk:

Liquidity risk is the risk that the Corporation will not be able to meet its financial obligations as they become due. The Corporation's financial liabilities consist of accounts payable and accrued liabilities. Accounts payable consists primarily of invoices payable to trade suppliers or professionals for capital expenditures and services rendered.

The Corporation prepares budgets for its corporate operations and capital expenditure programs which are regularly monitored and updated as considered necessary.

9. Commitments:

Under the terms and conditions of its Russian exploration licenses, the Corporation is committed to completion of seismic work programs and the drilling of exploration wells by certain dates in order to retain its rights under the licenses (note 3).

The Corporation is committed to making payments with respect to its office leases in Canada which expire on June 30, 2013 and October 31, 2013.

Future net minimum lease payments for these leases by fiscal year are as follows:

2011	$ 71,000
2012	284,000
2013	284,000
2014	59,000
